Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1400 on Tuesday 04 May 2021

UK Outlook for Sunday 9 May 2021 to Tuesday 18 May 2021:
Remaining unsettled on Sunday with spells of rain or showers, locally heavy - especially across northern hills and in the far southeast at first. Showers in the north accompanied with the risk of hail and thunder. Winds fresh to strong across much of the UK, potential for gales at first in the south and east, becoming confined to the northwest later. Temperatures nearer average, with a chance of warmer conditions in the SE. Further spells of rain, showers and fresh winds mainly for the north, with some hill snow in the far north through early next week. After that, remaining unsettled for the rest of the period with showers, longer spells of rain and strong winds, with temperatures likely to dip back below average, or remain close to.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.